

Roger Avalos

UX / UI Designer | Front End Engineer

Objective

To contribute my strengths and skills to a great company, with ambitions to reach my highest potential.

Education

- San Antonio College - A.A.S. Communication Design
- Red Hat Certified System Administrator

Professional Experience

Rackspace Hosting

Front End Engineer [Nov. 2018 - present]

I am currently focusing solely on front end development (html, css, less, sass, javascript, vue etc.) for rack-space.com as well as web applications for our sign ups platform.

UX Designer [Feb. 2014 - Nov. 2018]

I designed page layouts, user interfaces, illustrations, icons, patterns for various elements on Rackspace's global ecommerce team. I assisted in UX improvements & solutions as well contributing to the company brand and style guide. I also provided front end development to build and refactor UI elements and patterns, as well as rebuild layouts/components for A/B testing.

Linux Systems Administrator [Dec. 2012 - Jan. 2014]

I provided overall Linux technical support for dedicated, public and private cloud customers. I managed services and protocols such as Apache, Nginx, Mysql, basic networking, SSH, FTP, IMAP, POP, Plesk, SSL and DNS.

Volunteer / Freelance

Designer & Developer [Dec. 2011 - Present]

I have been taking on a wide range of projects when I'm available that include UX design, Web Animation as well as Web and App Development. I have volunteered for various organizations including Churches, Texas Linux Fest and local businesses.
